KILLED IN A CYCLONE

on a Steamer's Deck.

OVER A HUNDRED INJURED.

A Day of Enjoyment to Six Hundred People Suddenly Changed Iuto a Scene of Lamentation and Mourning-A List of the Dead and Those Seriously In-

HUNTINGTON, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The employes of Theodore Hayser, a Brooklyn dry goods merchant, gave an excursion to Warpe's grove, Cold Spring harbor, yesterday afternoon, by the excursion steamer Crystal Spring and the barge Republic. The party, which numbered nearly 600 souls, had a very pleasant day's enjoyment, and about 8 o'clock they embarked on the vessels for the journey home.

Just as they were leaving the dock a violent cyclone swept over the harbor and struck the barge. The awning of the upper deck was wrenched from its fastenings, lifted high in the air and fell with a terrific crash and destructive force upon the crowded deck. A scene of wiid confusion and panic ensued, which beggars description. The screams of the women and children, of which the excursion party was mainly composed, the hoarse shouts of the men, and the groans of the wounded and dying could be plainly heard above the rumbling of the thunder.

Inky, black clouds had made it almost s dark as night, and at every lightning ash those on board the steamer saw a great mass of persons struggling to extricate themselves from beneath the wreck and ruin of the awning. The boats were hastily tied to the dock again and those on the steamer, aided by the villagers who had hurried to the scene, began the work of rescuing those on board the barge. The debris was soon cleared away and the bodies of the dead and injured were taken from the barge and put on board the steamer, where the wounded received every attention.

Fourteen persons were found to have perished by the storm, which had sprung up with such frightful sudden-ness, changing a scene of gayety to one of lamentation and mourning.

The coroner immediately summoned a jury and, after an examination, permitted the removal of bodies. The jury, in its verdict, strongly censured the owner of the excursion barge for care-lessness, as the vessel was found to be as rotten as punk and totaliy unseaworthy.

The bodies of the dead were sent to their late homes in Brooklyn last night. ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Dispatches from New York Detailing the Terible Disaster.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Fourteen persons were killed outright and thirty more were injured at Cold Spring harbor at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They were just clearing the dock on an excursion barge to return to Brooklyn when the vessel was struck by a heavy squall and dashed against the dock. It was in the midst of a terrible thunder storm, the waves ran high and some peopie think that the mast of the barge on which the people were killed was struck by lightning. This is not known, how-

All was excitement and confusion; women and children were running about and screaming with fright. The sky was dark and threatening and a heavy sea was running when the upper deck of the barge fell with a crash upon the crowd beneath. Fourteen persons lay dead upon the deck when the wreckage was cleared away, and upward of thirty more were severely injured. Others are supposed to have fallen into the water, but up to the present time no bodies have been washed ashore or recovered.

The excursion was sent out by the large dry goods house of Geiser, of Brookiyn, for the benefit of its employes, but many other persons took advantage of the excursion to go along. In all there were about 600 persons, nearly all of whom are residents of Brookiyn and people and the scenes are heartrending. Captain John Gibbons, the com-mander of the Crystal Stream. told the foliowing story of the catastrophe: "I was standing on the upper deck of the steamer, really to go into the pilot house. It was about 5 o'clock and all the passengers had come aboard. Black clouds were coming rapidly from the west and I feared a heavy storm, so concluded not to start just then. The storms showed signs of passing to the south of us and we' concluded to start. I went in the pilot house, rang the bell to start and took hold of the wheel. Then there came a most awful gale from the west.

"There was a roaring and rushing that fairly deafened me; a sudden heavy downpour of rain and a flash of lightning, followed by a terrific peal of thunder that sounded as if the earth thunder that sounded as if the earth was being rent asunder.

"It seemed to me as I looked out that we were in the center of a cyclone which struck the steamer just aft the port bow. It twisted off the flag staff, tore down the awnings and two of the heavy stanchions, splitting the deck open. Then it caught the barge. There was a terrific crashing of timbers and the air was full of flying wood.

I could not move. Recovering I grabbed an ax that I keep in the pilot house and rushed out. The air was full of the cries of the wounded. Those who were not of the wounded. Those who were not wounded were in a terrible state of panic. I began to cut away the timbers and take out the injured. All we got out who are deed were dead when they were extricated. One little girl oried pitcously "Save me, save me," but before I could reach her she was dead. A man jumped overboard and was rescued by Francis Radlay whom we keep in a life-Francis Radley, whom we keep in a life-boat alongside in case of accident. I took 300 to Astoria, many of whom were injured though not seriously."

THE NEW TIMES BUILDING

The story of George Jones' life is the story of the founding and building up of the New York Times. Aithough Mr. Jones had reached the age of 40 when ine joined Henry J. Raymond in establishing The Times, and had already made his way to success and competence iowed $3,500 each, and $3,198.20 of the total costs is jury fees. The county will in other business enterprises, his earlier total costs is jury fees. field of New York journalism, and his return to it as a founder and publisher of The Times was but the fulfillment of his youthful ambitions. And from the day when the first copy of The Times was issued to the day of his death Mr. Jones has devoted to it, to the exclusion of ali other interests and affairs, his undivided time and energies. His success has been the success of the journal he has controlled. His honorable career and repute are inseparably associated with the career and the standing of his newspaper.

The father and mother of Mr. Jones were of that sturdy Welsh stock that has contributed prominent and successful men to so many of the older communities of this country. Coming to America some years before the birth of their son George, they had settled in the village of Pouitney, Vt., where the father engaged in the business of a woolen manufacturer. It was in Pouitney that George Jones was born on the 16th day of August, 1811. He would have reached the age of eighty on Sunday, the 16th of this month. The story of his youth is the familiar story of slender means and hard toil. His father and mother died when he was thirteen years old, and he was left to make his own way and take care of himself in the

There was a country store in the village of Poultney kept by Amos Bliss. That humble merchant himself a journalist enjoyed the uncommon distinction of being the first employer of the two men who later in life were to become conspicuous figures in New York jour-nalism. Mr. Jones, before he was fourteen years oid, became the cierk and errand boy in Mr. Biiss' store. At about the same time Mr. Biiss took into the composing room of his newspaper. The Northern Spectator, as a printer's apprentice, a boy named Horace Greely, who was to serve him five years, be boarded and lodged, and after the first six months was to receive $40 a year. The two lads became friends and playmates at once, and their acquaintance and friendship renewed not many years later in New York city, continued with only such interruptions as are natural, perhaps inevitable in the fivalries of journalism to the time of Mr. Greely's

Just as his youthful acquaintance with Greely, formed in the Vermont viliage some seventeen years earlier. had molded the beginning of his career in New York, so his friendship with Henry J. Ramond, beginning while the one was employed in the business office and the other in the editor's room of The Tribune, was destined speedily to ripen into intimacy, confidence and mutual re-spect, and later to bring them into business partnership in the founding and management of the New York Times. Upon the death of Mr. Raymond Mr.

George Jones became the responsible head of the New York Times in control of its business management and editorial policy. A complete history of Mr. Jones' management of The Times during the three years following Mr. Raymond's death would of necessity include mond's death would of necessity include a history of the Tweed sing broken and overthrown by The Times. Mr. Jenes had secured the secret accounts of the Tweed ring and had begun a fight which was only to end with the complete overthrow of Tweedism. When in some way Tweed discovered that these accounts were about to be published in The Times, he at once sent an agent to Mr. Junes with an offer to huve agent to Mr. Jones with an offer to buy The Times at any price he might name. This offer being refused an offer of $5,000,000 for the suppression of the accounts was made, but it was likewise refused.

Mr. Jones married in 1836 Miss Sarah Mr. Jones married in 1836 Miss Sarah M. Gilbert, of Troy. The fiftieth, or golden, anniversary of this wedding was quietly observed in the family of Mr. Jones in 1886. His surviving children are Mrs. Emma Ireland, Mrs. Edward J. Lowell, of Boston; Mrs. Henry L. Dyer, of this city, and Mr. Gilbert E. Jones.

Arrival in New York.

The impority for the new Constitution is far above most everybody's calculations and the claims of the most ardent friends of the new organic law. The official returns from eighty-six counties the thirty-three other counties will run this majority up to not less than 135,000. It may go to 140,000.

Norming would delight the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette as much as a Republican victory in this State, but the C.-G. has probably given up all hopes along that line. It remarks: "The Democratie vote in Kentucky seems to be pretty firmly fixed. Nothing appears is evidently wedded to its idols."

The Democrats of Kentucky are no uncertain quantity. They can be relied

He says: "It makes no difference personally or politically to me. But the combination to force Cleveland off the track, and the tariff issue with him, ought to fail, and it will. It is but little short of mockery to quibble about the form of our currency, when people are robbed and plundered daily of nearly all they have got. Let silver be coined. Coin is free, but never for a moment forget that neither silver, gold nor greenbacks, nor all combined, can bring and maintain prosperity for a people whose earnings are exhausted by merciless taxation and reckless extravagance."

Brown's Majority.

The vote for the People's Party ticket runs up a little higher than first returns rather what the party has entrusted to indicated, but it is still far short of what him, until he has discharged the duties the leaders of that party claimed before the election.

Railway News.

The rolling stock of railways in the United States, aggregated by Poor's Mannal from the company returns for their fiscal years, ending at different periods in 1890, was represented as follows: Locomotives, 32,241; passenger cars, 22,958; baggage, mail and express cars, 7,253; freight cars, 1,061,970; total number of cars, 1,092,241. These figures indicate an increase of 1,200 locomotives and 11,134 ears of all kinds in the preceding year. As many of the company reports from which statement is made are now from six months to more than a year old, the present equipment of our roads is considerably greater than the totals show (provided the latter contain no duplications) and it may be said that, in round dacy very doubtful. First, he may desire numbers, there are now in the United to make another race for Congress, alover 1,100,000 cars.

THE APPELLATE JUDGESHIP.

Candidate Wilhoit, of Carter County, Talks of the Coming Contest. Judge Wall Interviewed.

The contest for the Appellate Judgeship in this district is already attracting considerable attention. Judge Cole, of this city, Judge Beckner, of Winchester. Judge Cooper, of Mt. Sterling, and Judge Wilhiot, of Grayson, are the only ones so far mentioned as aspirants for the high show that 159,540 votes were cast for it honor. The latter was interviewed a few and 50,816 against it; majority for it, days ago by the Covington Post, and it is 108,724. It is estimated that the vote of evident from his talk that some one has not been giving him correct information. In speaking of the race he said: "Indge Beckner, of Clark, is the only fully announced candidate for the position besides myself. Judge A. E. Cole, of Mason, and Judge John E. Cooper, of Montgomery, are both spoken of as probable candidates, but whether they will be or not, I cannot say. I have a very strong letter from Judge Cooper, and while he does not say positively that he will not equal to the task of dividing or seriously be a candidate, yet from the tone of the impairing it. There were conditions letter, I hardly think he will. I also this summer that would have disrupted have assurances from some of Judge a party in any of the Northern States, but Cole's warmest and closest friends that the Democracy of that Commonwealth they do not think he will enter the race These gentlemen are all my friends, and if all four of us are candidates it will be a friendly contest for preferment, and I npon every time to vote for good govern- feel safe in saying it will be conducted on high principles, feeling as I do, that I desire the success of my party, above personal preferment, and believing that Should I be chosen as the standardof the entire district. I will 'carry the war into Africa,' and of success before the people I have no doubt."

Judge Wall, who is in Cincinnati, was hunted up by the Post and asked in regard to the race. Referring to Colonel Wilhoit's statement, he replied: "Judge Cole is, to my certain knowledge, an out and out candidate for the position, and expects to win. He is in the fight to stay and there can be no doubt of it. He has talked to me regarding the race in the last few days and gave me a number of eards announcing his candidacy to give to my friends. And in addition to this he has made several trips to various portions of the district in the interest of his candidacy. Judge Cole is not only a candidate, but he is an aggressive twenty-two had not reported their official one. He is a very methodical man. He wanted to be County Attorney, then Commonwealth's Attorney, then Circuit Judge, then Appellate Judge. The three first offices he has attained, and filled votes. I feel almost certain he would have been a candidate for the Superior Judgeship, but he is a man who never leaves what he has, or thereof fully, and his commission as Circuit Judge not expiring until after the Superior Judgeship had to be filled, but in time for him to make the race for Appellate Judgeship, he determined to a fight for Judge of the Appellate Court." The Post's interview naturally drifted to the coming contest for the position now held by Judge Cole, and Judge Wall replied: "There are several gentlemen who are aspirants for the position now held by Judge Cole, Judge of the Circuit Court, but they can do nothing until the State is redistricted under the new Constitution. Hon. James P. Harbeson, of Fleming, will certainly be a candidate, and Hon. Thomas H. Paynter, of Greenup, our present Congressman, is also very prominently mentioned. But there are two things which make Paynter's candi-States at least 33,000 locomotives and though he is now filling his second term, and it is hardly enstomary to give more than two terms to one man; second, it is no means certain that Greenup County will be in our judicial district, as the district will certainly be much smaller. Should Colonel Paynter be a candidate he will prove a very formidable one."

For the Farmer.

It is well known that com is the chief fattening food for pigs in a large part of the United States. Experiments which were made during three years are reported in full by the Illinois Station, showing the feeding value for pigs of corn, of corn and grass, of grass alone, the comparative value of soaked and dry corn, the value of droppings from cattle and of apple pomace in feeding pigs. In eight trials in which corn alone was fed, aside from salt and coal slack, pigs varying in weight fron 65 to 290 pounds, kept in pens or small lots without grass, gained at the rate of from 10.46 pounds to 14.73 pounds per bushel, the average gain being 12.36 pounds per bushel of shelled corn. The rate of gain for food eaten and the food eaten in proportion to weight decreased after four or six weeks' feeding with corn only. There seems to be no constant relation between the weight of the pigs or the season of the year and the food eaten or the gains

In four trials, pigs fed all they would eat of shelled eorn, with blue grass pasture, gained at the rate of 12.04 pounds per bushel of corn. Pigs under like conditious except that they were fed but half as much corn, gained at the rate of 12.03 per bushel. Pigs in dry lots fed shelled corn, gained at the rate of 10.52 pounds per bushel. In no case did pigs make satisfactory gains after six or eight weeks feeding on corn alone.

In two trials pigs fed soaked corn ate more and gained more than those fed on great. Two pigs in a two acre pasture lot in which three yearling steers were fed corn, gained in twenty-four weeks 195 pounds. In a second trial under like Reynolds. conditions two pigs gained 231 pounds in thirty-one weeks; the gain in neither case being large. A trial of apple pomace as food for pigs resulted unsatisfactorily; liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few the pomace kept well, but the pigs ate but little of it. Correspondence of Bulletin.

PARKS HILL, August 12. ltev Dr. J. M. Boland, of Paris, preached a st perlatively thue discourse on Tuesday morning to a large audience on the greatness, grandeur and eternity of God, from this text, 11 Chrouleles. 6: 18: "But will God in very deed dweli with men on the earth? Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built f"

Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock he preached from Il Corinthians, 6:, 13, 14, 15, which was ably Ireated throughout the hour. The peroration was elimaterie. He won many compliments for his eloquent utterances.

The social meetings of mornings, led by Rev. Morris Evans, are of deep spiritual power. The testimonies of the brethren and sislers-old soldlers of the cross-are impressive, and some very touching experiences are given, interspersed

The afternoons are devoted to instrumental and word concerts for the benefit of the fifty boys and girls in camp. Prof. Bristow teaches the little pilgrims" and "soldiers," (that's his poetie name for the bright little boys and sweet little glrls) until they sing like eages of tuueful hirds. He is a capital teacher, a composer of music and one of the most skillful organists in Kentucky.

The lour B's-Dr. John Boring, Rev. A. Boreing.

Dr. J. M. Boland and Dr. W. T. Bolling-are the leading camp meeling preachers in Kenlucky this week. Characteristically acquainted with the four B's, we can testify that they have no eapacity to bore, except in the right direction. One of the preltiest features of the camp is the cherubs-lie suowy little bahes and the starehy little maidens and bright little boys. Here they are in sample: Kennar Barns Fogg and Shinkle Bristow, of Covington; Morris Aitkin, Pattie Lee Flewing and Annie Ingles, of Flemingshurg; Lena Dunean, Pearl Campbell, Ava Parks, Bessa line Glenn, Maggie Duke Watson, of Shannou line Glenn, Maggie Duke Watson, of Shannou.
On the bridge awaiting lie arrival of the north bound Irain last evening we saw a bovy of pretty girls, all campers, on the lookoul for friends.
They were the Misses Rhodes and Browning, of Mason; Lula Andrews, Ollie Frant, Fannie Fleming, Elizabeth Dudley and Catharine DeBell, of Flemingsburg; Mary Champ, Leila Current, Lummle Mock, Lida Clarke, of Millersburg; Lena
Mann, Miss Seudder, Mattle Ross, of Carlisle;
Bertle Clay, of Parls, and Miss Duerson, of Louisville.

The Best Remedy for Cholera Morbus. [From the Des Moines (Iowa) Leader.]

Some weeks ago a Leader man went nto a drug store and asked: "What is the best remedy for cholera morbus?" He was told: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." The medicine was purchased, and worked like a charm. It proved to be very dry corn, but the difference was not effective, and since we found by experience in our own household that this particular remedy was of real value, we have not liesitated to speak of its merits as occasion offered. THE WAREHOUSE WAR

It is Looming Up Again at Louisville. The Growers Against the Trust.

The stocklinders of the Kentucky Tobacco Growers' Warchouse held their annual meeting at Louisville this week, and there was a lively row for a short time between two factions that have grown up

One was headed by M. I. Barker, the Cincinnati, and C. Deweese and J. L. Deweese, father and son, rich tobacco growers and dealers. The other faction was composed of the farmers. The Commercial says: "It was rumored that as Barker had the manufacturers at his back, and as Deweese is rich and influential, the other crowd would get the worst of the fight."

A long discussion resulted. Finally, the factions got down to "figgers," and Mr. Scott, one of the farmers, proposed to buy out the interest of the Barker you will only eall. erowd. It was agreed at last that Barker and the Deweeses should sell their stock at what they paid for it, 6 per cent. interest and a bonus of about 15 per cent. With this agreement the opposition withdrew and the Scott faction had the ware-

"The withdrawal of the Barker crowd is believed to be the beginning of the end of the intimate relations that have been maintained between the manufacturers and the growers' house," adds the Commercial. CHILIAN WAR.

A Report Made to the Navy Department at Washington

FROM OUR OWN WAR VESSELS.

Admiral Brown, Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific Station, Furnished Our Government With Details of the Present State of Affairs in Chill.

report has been received at the navy department from Admiral Brown, commander-in-chief of the Pacific station:

U. S. FLAGSHIP SAN FRANCISCO, COQUIMBO, Chiii, July 3, 1891. I have the honor to report the arrival of this ship at this piace on the 28th ult. On Jnne 18, Rear Admiral McCann left Iquique for Cailoa, Peru, in the Baltimore. Since that date I have visited Arica, Pisagua, Antofagasta and Caldera, and at each of those places I found the congressionalists or insurgents in quiet possession of the civil and military authorities.

At Pisagua, Colieta-Bueno, Iquique, and Antofagasta vesseis are loading nitrates as rapidly as if no war existed, and the insurgents are collecting the export duties on the same. At Pisagua there were two American barks and one schooner, and at Antofagasta one American bark.

About two weeks before my visit to Pisagua the government torpedo vessels Condeil and Lynch and the armed transport Imperial had, without any previous notice, bombarded the city. They fired ninety-five shells into the city, but did no serious damage to preperty and no one on shore was even wounded. The same vesseis appeared off Iquique and began firing at the city, but at such a long range that no projectile reached the shere or could be seen to strike the water, although a great many shots were fired. The insurgent ships got under way and went out at full speed, but the government ships, by their superior speed, did not allow the insurgents to get within range of them.

The land forces of the insurgents are mainly concentrated at Iquique, where there are about 6,000 men weil armed. Their aggregate force at all the ports held by them number about 8,000. The insurgent naval vesseis Esmeralda, Cochrane, Huascar, Magellenes, O'Higgins and Abtoa, and several armed transports are generally at Iquique. I met the Cochrane and Mageilenes at the Caidera en the 27th uitimo, and I have information that they were subsequently joined by the Huascar, and that the three vessels are not at Hnaseo.

Government Troops Defeated.

IQUIQUE, Aug. 13.—On Aug. 3 the congressional steam transport Maipo anchored here after an absence of forty-five days. She brought a large supply of munitions of war, including seventy-five Krupp guns of different caliber and 12,-600 magazine rifles, with a plentiful snp-ply of ammunition. It is believed they were transferred from a European steam-ship near Falkland islands, and great care was taken to prevent a repetition of the Itata affair.

The transport rigged up an extra smoke stack to prevent detection by President Balmaceda's ships. The arms were at once served out to troops and they started immediately to attack the government forces in and around Coquimbo. A battle was fought on the 9th inst., the congressionalists gaining a slight victory over the government troops, who are said to have gone further south.

EX-CONGRESSMAN SCOTT.

PITTSBURG, Ang. 13.—A special to The Times from Erie, Pa., says that ex-Congressman Scott's condition is slightly improved.

His physician said: "I am confident that Mr. Scott will recover, though his recovery will be necessarily very slow. I consider that he has passed the turning point and the chances are greatly in his favor. I shall shall strongly urge that he go abroad during the presidential campaign, for you know it will be absolutely impossible to keep Mr. Scott from taking an active part in the cam-paign, especially if Mr. Cleveland should be nominated.

A Brave(?) Man.

LOGANSPORT. Ind., Aug. 13.-A bulldog belonging to Frank Smith, of the North Side, went mad yesterday evening, and several children were bitten by the animal. Mrs. Smith bent the dog from her children with a pole. When the mad brute sprang at her it was with difficulty that she protected herself. Her husband, who is an old soldier, seeing the maddened arimal, became scared and dashed into the house, where he barred the doors and left his wife and children to the mercy of the brute.

Crucity to Paupers.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Ang. 13.—Charles Shontz, superintendent of the infirmary, waived examination to appear before the next term of court on a charge of assault and battery on an in-mate. What teeth Shontz could not pull from the inmate he broke off to keep him from biting his clothes.

They Left the House.

Tiffin, O., Ang. 13.-A. L. Flack and family returned from a prolonged sojonrn at Lakeside to find that during their absence their residence had been ransacked by burglars, who carried off nearly every movable article of value. including a large collection of rare and very valuable coins.

LATEST BASE BALL RUMOR.

A New Circuit Soon to Be Made in the Association.

St. Louis, Aug. 13.-Mr. Von der Ahe frankly admits that the Association is making an effort to change the circuit, and names Brooklyn and Pittsburg as probable successors to two Association cities. Just what towns Brooklyn and Pittsburg will succeed he will not say, but the chances are that Brooklyn will take Boston's place in the Association.

This at least is the opinion of a certain prominent Association player, who says that in the hatchet-burying convention of the League and Association shortly WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The following to take place the question of the new make-up of the Association will come up and the League will consent to Brooklyn entering the Association and pledge their word that they will assist in getting the cousent of the Brooklyn authorities for Sunday games. The provision that the League will make is that the Boston Association olub be transferred to Brooklyn, thus giving the League a free field in Boston and the Association an oportunity to again popularize Sunday playing in Brooklyn.

Pittsburg will take the place of Cincinnati as an Association city. This is almost a certainty.

The League will transfer its Pittsburg club to Indianapolis at the earnest request of John T. Brush, and the Association will make a desperate effort to transplant the Louisville club to Mil-

Wooi and Tallow Destroyed.
